A CLARION CALL FOR A NEW WORLD

“Take the hand of tomorrow for the yesterday is no more.”

Susan Trout in The Clarion Call

We stand precariously at the midpoint of the transition from the Piscean to the Aquarian Era. No longer having a foothold in the Piscean, we step onto the uncharted land of the Aquarian. Old organizational structures and belief systems collapse around us as new ones emerge to replace them.

In The Soul and Service Trilogy, Susan S. Trout, PhD, provides a road map to navigate the challenges that lie ahead, and offers templates for new models of leadership and group life to prepare those responding to the clarion call for change.

Dr. Trout is co-founder of the Institute for the Advancement of Service in Alexandria, VA, where she has served nearly thirty years; first as Training Director, and then as Executive Director. Now, as the Institute’s Director of Outreach, she is dedicating her efforts to sharing the transformative teachings of The Soul and Service Trilogy with national and international leaders, groups, and organizations who are searching for concrete ways to usher in the new world.

Dr. Trout holds graduate degrees from Stanford and Northwestern universities in psychoneurology and communication disorders. She has worked as a specialist and researcher in communication and neurological disorders in Alaska, Illinois, and California. Prior to her work at the Institute, she served fourteen years as a professor, chairperson, and researcher at the University of the Pacific and University of California Medical Centers in San Francisco.

The Soul and Service Trilogy by Susan S. Trout, PhD

“The goal of all service is simply to bring out what is already there, to unveil the soul.”
